NOT DIE PENNILESS. Woman Buried in Potter's Field Had Nearly $6,000.

New York, Sept. 19 .- The discovery has been made that Mrs. Mary Louise May, a recluse, who was found dead in her home in Brooklyn, and who was buried in the Potter's Field, in the belief that she had died friendless and penniless, had really been possessed of money in bank and in hand amounting to nearly $6,000. This fact was brought to light by representatives of the Health Department While engaged in fumigating the rooms occupied by Mrs. May. In an old chest with the bank books was also found a written request by the recluse that she be buried beside her husband in Lutheran Cemetery. It was said at the office of the firm yesterday that the man who had charge of Mrs. May's will was out of town and the names of the institutions to which the money has been left could not be learned.

Mrs. May was the widow of Thomas May, a retired sea captain, who died about ten years ago. Since his death she had lived alone in the Dean street house. When the agent for the premises called on Wednesday last to collect the rent he found the house locked up. Neighbors told him that Mrs. May had not been seen about for nearly a month. Suspecting something wrong, the agent called a policeman and the two forced open the door. In one of the rooms they found Mrs. May dead. The Coroner's physician who viewed the body said that the woman had apparently been dead about three weeks. Her pet fox terrier, ber only companion in the house, lay dead beside her. Camp Cook Grafts Fawn's Flesh to Woodman's Cheek. Bangor, Me., Sept. 19.-William McCoy, a woodman, who has returned from the Spruce Lake region, after two years' absence, brings with him the proof of what is, perhaps, the most remarkable case of skin grafting on record. The proof is the skin of McCoy's left cheek, which originally grew upon the side of an Aroostook fawn. In May, 1902. McCoy and Jack Duffy were getting out spruce poles. Duffy started to chop off a limb, when the ax slipped from his hands and struck McCoy, shaving a slice from his left cheek. No doctor was within thirty-five miles, and the streams were at freshet pitch, so that traveling was out of the question. The wound bled frightfully, and it was feared that McCoy might bleed to death if something was not done for him at once. In this emergency William Henry, the camp cook, volunteered to act as surgeon.

Having stopped the flow of blood, Henry shaved the hair from the spot on the side of a young fawn that had been captured by the crew the day before, cut out the piece of skin and slapped it upon the raw spot on McCoy's face, covering the patch with gum and binding it tightly with linen cloths. In a month McCoy was able to go to work, and he never missed the patch of skin sliced off by Duffy's ax or noticed any difference until two weeks later, when he discovered that hair was growing on the patch. It was the hair of the fawn, and ever since then it has kept on growing, changing color with the seasons, just as does the skin of a deer. ed to chop off a limb, when the ax slipped

BANDITS HOLD GUN TO WOMAN'S HEAD.

Daring Robbery Committed in Massuchusetts Town-Thieves Get Money and Escape in Buggy.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Boston, Mass., Sept. 19.-Two wellfressed men entered the store of Silva Seymour, near the Westdale Station, and, placing a revolver at the head of Mrs. Seymour, forced her into a rear room. They then broke open the money drawer, and, after securing the contents, entered a buggy and drove rapidly in the direction of Elmwood.

The hold-up was committed soon after 3 o'clock, and no time was lost in sending the news to the police of East Bridgewater. They are making every effort to apprehend the men, for it is the second time within a few months that the store has been entered by thleves in daylight and the money drawer emptied.

Mrs. Seymour was tending the store in the absence of her husband, and when she heard a man enter the store she left the living-room, which is in the rear, and went behind the counter. The man asked for a piece of tobacco and tendered a $5 bill. Mrs. Seymour opened the money drawer and made the necessary change.

The man immediately left the store, but in a few minutes returned accompanied by a companion, who had been seated in the buggy. He called to Mrs. Seymour and she came from the back room, when she was met at the door by the man who had just bought the tobacco. He pulled a revolver from his pocket, and placing it near her head, ordered her to leave the room.

"Just get out, and no fooling, either; we mean business," said the visitor, and Mrs. Seymour lost no time in returning to the back room. While she was there the man with the revolver stood guard at the door, and motioned for her to keep quiet and make no alarm. The second man at once went behind the counter and attempted to open the money drawer.

He did not succeed at first, but took a hammer from the counter and made short work of the drawer. Some of the money was scattered about the floor.

Securing the bills that were in the drawer, he and his companion left hasilly, and entering the buggy drove rapidly in the direction of Elmwood.

Mrs. Seymour had fainted, and when the revived she ran to one of the rear windows and shouted for assistance. The neighbors ran toward the building, and the police at the village were soon notified.

The store is near the Westdale Station, but there are few houses in the vicinity, and its isolation made it difficult for the neighbors to get track of the men as speedily as they wished.

The police sent a description of the buggy and men in every direction.

Miss Susse Maguire, who was visiting at the home of Mrs. Annie Kane, saw the water. They are making every effort to pprehend the men, for it is the second

IMPELLED TO CRIME BY A STRANGE IMPULSE.

Frank Leverne Declares That Irresistible Spell Caused Him to Chloroform and Rob Friend.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL San Francisco, Sept. 19.-Frank Leverne, an 18-year-old boy, is a self-confessed criminal. He is charged with having chloreformed and robbed Henry Gramanche, who has been his bosom friend for fifteen years. Leverne can give no motive for robbing his friend other than that he was moved by some irresistible in-fluence to commit the robbery.

Leverne is a waiter and Gramanche a carpenter. The two have been comrades from boyhood, and recently came to this city from Stockton, Both have been working in this city for several months past, but Leverne has been out of work for the past few days. The other night the two men siept in the same room in a lodginghouse on Fourth street, near Misson. Gramanche awoke feeling dazed, There was the odor of chloroform in the room. His friend had gone, and the E3 which he had left in his pocket was also missing. He hastily dressed and reported the matter to the police, stating that he had been chloroformed and robbed. Later he was standing near the ferry building telling Policeman M. Barry of the robbery when Leverne passed. He was pointed out to the policeman and placed under arrest. When searched a bottle of chloroform was found on his person and also money equal to that stolen. Leverne admitted haring administered the chloroform to his friend, and then robbed him. "I did not know what I was doing at the time." he said. "I was seized with a sudden mad desire to get possession of his money which I knew my friend nat. I had the chloroform 'n my pocket and I dropped some on the pillow on which he was sleeping. I then took the money and left the place. city from Stockton, Both have been work-

That Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

Recommend Pe-ru-na.

No other remedy has received the unqualified indorsement of so many distinguished American citizens as Peruna. The pharmacopoela does not furnish a catarrh remedy so well known. It is acknowledged on all hands that Peruna and catarrh are so indelibly associated that to speak of one is to think

Congressman H. Henry Powers, of Vermont, writes from Morrisville, Vt.:

"Peruna I have used in my family with success. I can recommend it as an excellent family remedy, and very good for coughs, colds and catarrhal affections."—H. Henry Powers.

It is a well-known fact that the gunboat "Hist" was more effective in destroying the torpedo destroyers of the Spanish fleet than any other vessel. Lucien Young, commander of the gunboat "Hist" during the battle of Santiago, was specially mentioned by Admiral Sampson for his guilantry. In a recent letter from Washington, D. C., he writes:

"The curative qualities of Peruna as a cure for catarrh have been fully established by the use of the same most successfully by many of my acquaintances, and I can recommend any one who is so afflicted to try it."—Lucien Young.

We have testimentals on file from over fifty members of Congress, Governors, Generals, and many other men of dignity and prominence.

Peruna has cured more cases of catarrh than all the other remedies combined. It is exactly as Congressman Goodrich, of Oklahoma, says: "Peruna is not only a cure for catarrh, but also a most vigorous tonic."

Almont Barnes.

of Oklahoma, says: "Perma is not only a cure for catarra, but also a most vigorous tonic."

These two facts are beyond controversy. Any remedy that operates to tone up the whole nervous system will also operate beneficially upon catarra.

Catarra is simply a flabby condition of the mucous membrane. This flabbiness has been brought about by exposure to cold, which finally depresses the nerves supplying the mucous membrane.

Perma operates immediately to strengthen these nerves and give tone to the mucous membrane. There is no other internal catarra remedy that has proven effective in all cases.

Hon. D. A. Nunn. ex-Congressman from Tennessee, writes: "I cheerfully recommend Peruna to all those suffering from catarrala troubles."—D. A. Nunn.

The most distinguished men of the United States have no hesitation in lending their influence to assist in letting the people know of the virtues of Peruna. Nearly one-half the people are in some degree affected by catarra. Therefore, it is almost a national curse, and it is of national import that the people should know of Peruna.

Pe-ru-na Cannot Be Imitated.

Some things may be successfully imitated, but Peruna cantot be. Every one purchasing Peruna should look out for imitations. Examine each package carefully. If you have ever used Peruna or if you have ever tasted it you are not in the slightest danger of being misled by these imitations, but all those beginning the use of Peruna should beware.

Beware of imitations. Believe no one who tells you that he has a remedy that is making the same cures that Peruha is If you have any doubt as to the genuineness of the bottle of Peruna you are using write to Dr. Hartman, and the fraud, if there be any, will soon be detected.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna be pleased to give you his valuable ad-write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a vice gratis.
